All things being equal, all loyal boosters agree that it is the proper thing to buy home-manufactured goods, as the money earned at home is kept at home and the town progresses. In the same way, it should be agreed that the city is being benefited if the people buy their amusements at home instead of going elsewhere on holidays and during recreation hours. By following such a spend-money-at-home plan, it is obvious that good results must ensue.

Now Ogden always has had plenty of resorts for Ogden people and others, and, on special occasions, entertainments out of the ordinary are provided for the patronage of the citizens, so that it is seldom, if ever, necessary to leave the city for proper recreation. In line with the foregoing policy, arrangements are being made for a gigantic program of amusements to take place at the Fair Grounds on July 24, Pioneer Day, and on two days following.

Several weeks ago the Ogden Automobile Racing association planned automobile races to take place at the Fair Grounds on July 4. Because of other entertainment, the races were postponed to July 24. Although it was generally agreed that the automobile racing alone would be well worth the patronage of Ogden citizens, an agreement was reached by the committee in charge whereby the cowboys, cowgirls and others, who gave such exciting performances in Salt Lake during the N. E. A. convention, are to repeat their performances in Ogden. The first day of the "Roundup," as it is called, will be on July 24, when the automobile races will also be held. Because of the excellent press notices given the performances of the exponents of wild western life, hundreds of people were attracted to Salt Lake and many attended the exhibitions from Ogden. When people went from Ogden to Salt Lake on purpose to see the exciting acts, there appears to be no reason why such performances should not be well patronized by Ogden people when the exhibition is given in their own city.

For the performances in Salt Lake, the riders were brought from all the frontier districts of the United States, but most of them are from the Jackson Hole country, in Wyoming. Following the show in Salt Lake, practically the entire company came to Ogden Wednesday and will remain here until after the performances at the Fair Grounds. There are about 60 cowboys and cowgirls with a herd of wild horses and also several steers and wild bulls. All will take part in the performances.

The Jackson Hole country is probably the last frontier district in the United States. It is doubtful if anywhere else there are cowboys working under similar conditions. The range there resembles the cattle country as it existed 20 or 30 years ago and the cattle are herded in the same manner. Consequently the performers will be able to give exhibition that, for realism and excitement, will surpass anything offered in the tented exhibitions travelling over the country. Following the performance in Ogden, the performers will at once return to their homes in Wyoming.

The program for July 24, and the following days, will include bucking contests open to all contestants and generous purses will be given. Purses will be given daily and it will not be necessary for the contestants to wait until the close of the three days. There will be wild horse races each day with prizes for the winners and also bucking contests for cowgirls.

Prizes will be offered to those who can ride the bucking bull or the bucking steer. This feature promises to be laughable. There also will be chariot races daily, with four horses to each chariot. Fancy roping and riding contests will be held with trick riding and relay races to fill in any vacant moments that may occur.

The foregoing outline merely includes the extra features of the day, July 24. The automobile races will be the equal attraction. Special pains have been taken to have the track in good condition in order that no accidents will occur. To further prevent danger, the races are open only to cars under 30 horse power. Nine races will be given.

The Ogden association is almost the pioneer organization to conduct automobile races in Utah and as a result there will be many come from all parts of the state to see the events. Automobile men are interested, as it gives them the opportunity of seeing their favorite cars in action. The general public is interested as it is interested in all speed contests.

The feature event promises to be the five-mile race between two Ford cars. H. C. James will represent Ogden and Fred Alcire will represent Salt Lake. There has been much rivalry between the two concerning the respective merits of their two automobiles and the race next Thursday was planned to settle the dispute.

In addition to the racing program and the "Roundup" there will be plenty of band music for the patrons of the amusements provided by Ogden people for Ogden people.

Are You Ready to Build That New Home?

Don't fool yourself, show good sense and build it fire-proof.

A BRICK HOUSE is not only fire-proof, it is also vermin-proof, warmer in winter and cooler in summer. It grows in value. A frame house depreciates and is a constant expense, becoming more and more of an expense as repairs become more and more necessary.
